Mr. Steven Kozan recently visited our 5th and 6th graders at Knob Noster Middle School and conducted a flash writing and illustration activity with them. We loved his message of “anyone can become a writer!” It is important and powerful for students to learn that even at their age they can do something great!

His conversational style of sharing his own story was captivating and engaging for both students and adults. But our students’ favorite part was watching their ideas come to fruition in the flash illustration! We are looking forward to one of our own students becoming a published author!

Sincerely
Julie Andrade
